From the Bardonia Herald.
TO D.
"Correspondent of the Lebanon Post."
"How sweet to think when far away
From those we've left with pain,
If dear friends hold the icy hand,
That we may meet again."

D.
Dear D, I thank you for the verse
You have inscribed to me;
I'll cherish it most near my heart
Because 'tis sent by thee;
And should we never meet again
Upon life's troubled sea,
Believe me I will often think
Upon your poetry.
Did I say yours, oh, pardon me,
I meant not that I ween,
For, dearest D, that pretty piece
I know I've often seen!
It's treasured in my memory now,
With loving friends of yore,
And they have from me sadly gone—
It cannot charm me more.
You say that when you left my side,
It filled your heart with pain,
Then, dearest D, this, my advice,
Oh, seek it not again.
Another verse I know there is,
(Now, D, you will not part)
In that sweet, sad and mournful song,
And you have left it out.
But now, farewell—oh, do not mourn
That we were forced to part,
Nor let the bitter anguish break
Your loving, tender heart;
But seek some other lovely shrine,
And there in homage bow,
And I will ever cherish thee,
As true as I do now.

MR. EDITOR: I was near you a few minutes the other day when you were reading to some friends the Kentucky Tribune, of the 3d Nov., and had I been at leisure I would have expressed to you my views on the subject, which, of course, you would have been at liberty to decide on. For though you believe that in matters of faith and morals, God has given His infallible promise to teach the truth by the voice of the Church, yet this belief of yours does not require you to hold me or yourself infallible in politics, and other matters, about which your church claims no authority to dispute your opinions.
With regard to "Pro Bono Publico's" low witticisms and ridiculous puns on your pretty name, which seems both to delight and disgust me, reminding him of the society in which he was bred, you and he may fire your squibs and crack your jokes to your heart's content, without exciting more than a faint smile on the features of those who feel no malice against either of you.

As to politics, you are Democrat, and the Tribune is Whig and a partisan of that deep stamp which makes him the slave of the party. This one number of the Tribune plainly shows that both the editor and correspondent place their salvation in the success of their party, and are ready to sacrifice at the shrine of truth and religion, and all the maxims of the gospel, and every principle of honesty. In vain would you deny and disprove their slanders of your church, when they have been so often refuted by the most respectable Protestant writers; in vain would you deny their calumnies of the Boston Pilot, when one has only to read, at random, any number of the Pilot, to see that its teaching is the very opposite of the language forged for it by the Tribune. In vain have all honest editors, of all parties and creeds, all over the Union, exposed the base forgery on Lafayette, said to be extracted from the very letter in which he uses precisely the opposite language. The Tribune repeats this calumny with as much effrontery as if he had never heard of its being a forgery, and is confident that his readers will applaud his boldness, in sacrificing truth and honesty for the sake of his party. What use of a controversy with such a writer? What would be gained by showing him truth and justice as clear as the noon-tide sun? Truth and justice are not what he seeks; and if falsehood and injustice seem likely to promote his cause, he willingly embraces them.

Your churches are in the towns and villages, and scattered over the country; and every child can see with its own eyes that your people assemble in them quietly to worship God, and remain in quiet worship, even when the rabble gather around them in the streets, and set up one of their number on the bottom of a tub to interrupt and insult them. What impudence then, to call those churches "arsenals," and attempt to prove it by asserting that the "American Protestant Association" was fired on from one of those "Churches," alias "Arsenals," as it marched quietly through the streets, when it is known that this American Association, composed chiefly of Orangemen and other foreigners, broke into the church when no one was there, and demolished, or greatly injured doors, windows, altar and furniture; and that the firing was not from the church, but into it, by those who were "marching so quietly;" and that the man whom they shot was an Irishman whom they found in the street. These facts have been published by all the papers except such four by six trash as the Kentucky Tribune.

MR. EDITOR: Creation is full of beauty and design. Inspiration tells us that the universe sprang from nothing—that the fiat of Deity commanded, and it was done; and when His searching eye surveyed the mighty work, and saw that imitable loveliness was enthroned on every thing which His power had created, He pronounced it "very good." What can be more expressive? Perfection has acknowledged the work complete. The eye must be blind and the heart callous that cannot discover the beauties of Nature; and seeing, experience emotions of grandeur and sublimity. Beauty exists in all the ramifications of the three important classes of organized matter on the globe. In the animal range from our own species down to the polyp, which scarcely possesses vitality we see it; and again in ascending, the chain of vegetable life we find the most exact order. In minerals also, every thing is nicely adapted to the grand design, which God had in view, viz: the happiness of man.

Man obedient to the heavenly mandate, stands pre-eminently above every other terrestrial organization in physical as well as intellectual, and moral beauty. Among animals we find none "so fearfully, yet wonderfully made," as this symmetrical frame of his, and united to this "the breath of God," which makes him a living soul; possessed of affections, reason and will; and qualifies him to be "lord of the beasts of the field and fowls of the air."

Without these souls we would be unable to appreciate the lavish display which surrounds us. Mountains, hills and plains; oceans, lakes and rivers; forests, groves, trees, shrubs and plants; harmonize in producing a grand panorama of loveliness. We enjoy the awfully sublime scene presented by the fury of hurricanes, the eruption of volcanoes; and the heaving commotion of earthquakes; for by their effects are produced otherwise unattainable. Of these and similar scenes a poet has justly said,
"Discord is harmony not understood."

Earthly beauty is transient; and when compared to the pleasures of a cultivated mind yields but little gratification; for as it passes away intellectual pleasures brighten, and give happiness, which will prove as durable as the throne of God. If the mind when confined to earth can have a faint view and more distinct conception of the higher beauties which gem Heaven's ethereal dome, we may joyfully hope that when the "mortal shall have put on immortality," we may explore the boundless mysteries of the universe.

We are conscious that a correct knowledge of Nature will lead the mind to Nature's God; and may justly reason, that the moral virtues which may and should cluster around the intellect, will form a coronet of gems of more sparkling brilliancy and real value than ever adorned the head of earth's proudest nobles.
STELLA MAY.

The Columbus Statesman tells how some of the knowing ones in that precinct got taken in by a 'deep one' at a recent quarter-race thereabouts. It appears that an old jockey, unknown to most present, had brought a three year old colt on the ground, and after carelessly hitting him to a post, let him remain, without bestowing any apparent attention upon him.

As soon as the race was over, the old fellow had the audacity to come forward and say that he could beat the winner with "that scrub yander"—pointing to the aforesaid colt. The friends of the Brown bit at the hook, and immediately planked up all they had won, and such other small change as they had present command of. Preliminaries for the second race having been made, the Brown was soon measuring capacity with the 'Scrub,' but unfortunately for his backers, he held a rear position at the outcome. Our friends (the butchers,) were completely nonplussed, but freely gave up the stakes, and laughed heartily at the joke, that they had not before discovered that old Street-race was among them, with a colt of the Priester stock.

RATIONAL.—A man residing in a New England town, at some distance from a near relative, received a message one evening in November, to hasten to the latter's residence, as he was in a dying state. When he arrived he was told that his relative's reason had entirely left him. The sick man presently turning his head, saying in a faint voice, "Who is that?" He was informed that it was his relative who had been sent for.
"Oh!" said he, "he must be cold. Make him a good warm toddy, yes, a hot toddy."
"I guess he ain't crazy," said the visitor, "he talks very rational."

Electioneering.

My friend and competitor Allen (as I chose to call him,) was a candidate for a seat in the Legislature, this last summer, before the sovereigns of ——— county. He didn't get elected—nor did he expect to; only ran in order to show his scars in another sort of race before the General Assembly. Well, Allen and his friends 'crowded things smartly' up to and on the day of election. On that day, one Cook, (a bit of a wag,) took charge of one voter whom we may call Padlock, with a view to get his 'unbiased suffrage' for our friend Allen. But it had so happened, that Allen some months before had assisted in prosecuting Padlock in four or five malicious mischief cases; and in the course of a speech made by him, in one of them, he bestowed on poor Padlock such a character, as I humbly trust would be entirely too black for any one of the 200 inmates of our Penitentiary. Of all the villains then unhung, Padlock according to that speech, was longo intervallo, the greatest; and really the juries which had the cases seemed to concur, to some extent, for Padlock was convicted in all the cases, and, as a consequence, incarcerated for an indefinite number of calendar months.

"On this state of facts," the aforesaid Cook sought to obtain Padlock's vote for Allen.

"You must vote for him," quoth Cook; "you are a Southern Rights man and so is he."

"Southern Rights may be d—d; and he may be d—d; and you may be d—d, before I'll do it! Reckon I'll vote for a man that called me a theevin, horse-shaver! and midnight assassin of buggies! and a smooth-skinned, no tailed, two-legged hound. No, by thunder!" returned Padlock.

"Well, but see here, Pad, Allen is a lawyer and he was employed against you, and had to do his duty."

"No advantage," said Pad, with a wink, "I'm employed against him, now."

"Oh, you jakes, don't you see you are killing your own side, by acting this way," rejoined Cook, petulently.

"Am I?"

"To be sure you are!"

"Well," said Pad, very thoughtfully and slowly, "well—d—d—ef—I—care!"

It occurred to Cook, now, that he had better change his tactics. Quoth he—
"It's very true, Pad, that Allen did talk hard about you, but he didn't do you half as bad as he did Tims, the prosecutor in those cases against you. My God!"—here Cook drew a deep sigh—"I wouldn't do anybody as Allen did Tims, for a thousand dollars!"

"How's that?" asked Pad, eagerly.

"Why," replied Cook, "Tims owed him his fee for prosecuting, and Allen bailed him for it."

"Is that all?" pshaw?

"No sir! he bailed him—then he took out a judicial attachment against him—Pad's countenance brightened."

"And then he took with him a ca. se."

"Anything else?" asked Pad, in a full grin.

"Oh, yes! Tims were out on the ca. se, and I heard Allen say to him, 'Now, sir, leave the county in twenty-four hours, or I'll prosecute you for perjury. I prosecuted Padlock for you and I've got no pay. Padlock is as d—d a rascal as ever stole corn, but he is a perfect white man along side of you.'"

"Talk enough!" shouted Padlock, "give me the ticket, Cook. I was against him, but of that is the way he does justice twist man and man, I'm for him till my heels fly up!"

And Allen got Padlock's vote.—Spirit of the Times.

YOU ARE A BRICK.—A certain college Professor had assembled his class at the commencement of the term, and was reading over the list of names to see that all were present. It chanced that one of the number was unknown to the Professor, having just entered the class.

"What is your name sir?" asked the Professor, looking through his spectacles.

"You are a brick," was the startling reply.

"Sir," said the Professor, half starting out of the chair at the supposed impertinence, but not quite sure that he had understood him correctly, "Sir, I did not exactly understand your answer."

"You are a brick," was again the composed reply.

"This is intolerable!" said the Professor, his face reddening. "Beware young man, how you attempt to insult me."

"Insult you!" said the student, in turn astonished. "How have I done it?"

"Did you not say I was a brick?" returned the Professor with stifled indignation.

"No sir, you asked me my name, and I answered your question. My name is U. R. A. Brick—Uriah Reynolds Anderson Brick."

"Ah, indeed!" murmured the Professor, sinking back into his seat in confusion. "It was a misconception on my part. Will you commence the lesson, Mr.—ahem—Mr. Brick?"

A Piscatorial Adventure.

The following story is told by A. C. Nelson, Esq., in a late number of his Northern Gazette:

Let us relate a trifling incident which came off last year; it was, we believe, not 1000 miles from the "Bloody Saranac," at Plattsburg.

A party of fishermen went up to those waters trying their luck at bass and pickerel, and among their number was a gentleman holding a high position at the Clinton county Bar. No disciple of good old "Izaak" could excel him in sporting keenness or piscatorial perseverance. He would hold his own in all weathers and under every difficulty, wherever he saw a chance of a "rich take."

On the occasion we have introduced, he reeled out Heaven only knows how many fathoms of line, and in due time called out: "a strike!"

The boatman laid on their oars, and the Judge began to reel in his prey.—But he had hardly got in five feet of line, when he had to pay out ten. "That's a big fish," he remarked, chuckling, while his chums seemed to envy his sport.

"Come, Judge," said one, "hurry up."

"Wait a bit," and the fisherman played on and off in a manner highly provoking to the spectators.

"Do haul that fish in!" exclaimed two or three voices.

"You must be foolish to think I'll lose that fish to please you," was the impatient Judge's rejoinder; and he persisted in reeling in and out, according to the movements of his captive.

At last the party grew boisterous.—"We shant lay to any longer," cried one. "It's all a poppy-cook," exclaimed another. "I'll bet the Judge ain't got a thing," asserted a third. "He'd keep that line going beyond the next term of court," said a fourth. "Pull the oars," was the order of the fifth to the boatman.

The worthy Judge could "dodge it" no longer and had to yield. So he began to reel in his prey, exclaiming now-and-then: "I expect I shan't have a grand dinner out of that chap yet," and so forth.

The line was about all in, when he exclaimed: "Look out! I'm going to land him!" and in he hepped—a monstrous old shoe.

The shout that greeted the advent of the article was deafening, while the Judge's change of countenance, from the glow of pride to the blank of surprise and frown of mortification can better be imagined than described.

The jeers of the party were ceaseless.

"What a fish a toad is!" cried one.—

"That must have weighed ten pounds, at least," said another. "Judge, are you going to have it stuffed and baked?"

ask a third. "I think you'd better make stake of it," recommended a fourth.—

"Well," observed a fifth, "this is the first time I've heard of soles being in caught in Lake Champlain." "I wonder it did n't bite the Judge's rigging in two," remarked the sixth.

This fire was kept up with cruel perseverance the rest of the day; but after a while it fell harmless around the Judge's jolly person, he laughed as loud and long as any at the jokes perpetrated at his introduction in the leather business.

LITTLE PITCHERS HAVE LONG EARS.—A lady was quite in the habit of dropping at her neighbors about meal times in the hope of obtaining an invitation to partake with the family, was recently completely non-pulsed, by the unhesitating frankness of a child.

Knowing that a neighbor's supper hour was 5, she called in about 4, and settled herself down for a long call.

It takes two to make a bargain and the lady honored with the call had no idea of giving an invitation, if it was in her power to escape it.

Accordingly the hour of five brought no indications of supper. Time moved on, the sun was near its setting, and still the same.

A little girl, the neighbor's daughter began to grow quite uneasy. At length the mother having gone out for a moment, the visitor said:

"You must come over and see me, Mary some time."

"No, I won't," said little Mary.

"Why not?"

"Because I don't love you."

"Why?"

"Because I am hungry and want some supper."

"But," said the visitor, amazed, "I don't prevent you having your supper, do I?"

"Yes, you do," said the little girl.—Mother said she shouldn have supper until you are gone, if you stayed till mid night."

In less than five minutes the visitor was marching out of the front door with a red face. She hasn't called to see Mary's mother since.

A lad named John Ray, in Cincinnati, was killed Monday, under the following circumstances: He started to the river to water a couple of horses, and mounting one, he tied the halter of the other around his waist. When returning to the stable, the horse which he was leading pulled him off and ran with him about half a mile, mutilating his body in a shocking manner.

Getting Married.

The New Orleans Picayune relates a little incident which transpired in one of the Eastern towns last summer. It occurred in church on one of the quiet afternoons when all the world seems ready to drop asleep—when the flies buzz lazily on the window panes, and the dog lies on the door-stone. The afternoon service had ended, and the congregation were arranging themselves for the benediction, when, to the great astonishment and the manifest interest of the worshippers, the good person descended from the pulpit to the desk below, and said, in a calm, clear voice—"Those wishing to be united in the holy bonds of matrimony, will now please to come forward."

A deep silence instantly fell over the congregation, broken only by the rustling of silk, as some pretty girl or excited matron changed her position, to catch the first view of the couple to be married. No one, however, arose, or seemed in the least inclined to arise. Whereupon the worthy clergyman, deeming his first notice unheard or misunderstood, repeated the invitation:—

"Let those wishing to be united in the holy bonds of matrimony, now come forward."

Still no one stirred. The silence became almost audible, and a painful sense of the awkwardness of the position was gradually spreading among those present, when a young gentleman who had occupied a vacant seat in the broad aisle during the service, slowly arose, and deliberately walked to the foot of the altar. He was good-looking and well dressed, but no one knew him, and no female accompanied his travels. When he arrived within a respectable distance of the clergyman, he paused, and, with a reverent bow, stepped to one side of the aisle, but neither said anything, nor seemed at all disconcerted at the idea of being married alone. The clergyman looked anxiously around for the bride, who, he supposed, was yet to arrive, and at length he remarked to the young gentleman in an under tone:—

"The lady, sir, is dilatory."

"Very, sir."

"Had we not better defer the ceremony?"

"I think not. Do you suppose she will be here soon?"

"Me, sir!" said the astonished shepherd; "how should I know of your lady's movements? That is a matter belonging to yourself?"

A few moments more were suffered to elapse in this unpleasant state of expectancy, when the clergyman renewed his interrogatories.

"Did the lady promise to attend at the present hour, sir?"

"What lady?"

"Why the lady, to be sure, that you are waiting here for."

"I did not hear her say anything about it," was the unsatisfactory response.

"Then, sir, may I ask why you are here, and for what purpose you trifle with me in this manner?" said the somewhat enraged cleric.

"I come, sir, simply because you invited all those wishing to be united in the holy bonds of matrimony to step forward, and I happened to entertain such a wish! I am very sorry to have misunderstood you, sir, and wish you a very good day."

The benediction was uttered with a solemnity of tone very little in accordance with the twitching of the facial nerves; and when, after the church was closed, the story got wind among the congregation more than one girl regretted that her wishes had not been as boldly expressed as that young gentleman's, who had really wished to be "united in the holy bonds of matrimony."

HAD A "WINNING WAY" WITH HER.—A wayward son of the Emerald Isle "left the bed and board" which he and Margaret, his wife, had occupied for a long while, and spent his time around rum shops, where he was always on hand to count himself "in," whenever anybody should "stand treat." Margaret was dissatisfied with this state of things, and endeavored to get him home again. We shall see how she proceeds:

"Now, Patrick, my honey, will ye come back?"

"No, Margaret, I want come back."

"An' won't ye come back for the love of the poor children?"

"Not for the love of the children, Margaret."

"Will you come back for the love of me, sir?"

"Niver at all. 'Wey wid ye."

"An, Patrick, won't the love of the church bring ye back?"

"The church to the devil, and then I won't come back."

Margaret thought she would try one other inducement. Taking a pint bottle of whiskey from her pocket, and holding it up to her truuant husband, she said: "Will ye come for the drop of whiskey?"

"Ah, me, darlint," said Patrick, unable to withstand such temptation, "it's yersil that'll always bring me home again—ye has such a winning way wid ye, I'll come home, Margaret."

Margaret declared that Patrick was 'reclaimed by moral suasion.'

Be temperate in all things.

Miscellaneous.

The Dead Wife.

In comparison with the loss of a wife all other bereavements are trifles. The wife, she who fills so large a space in the domestic heaven, she who is so busied so unwearied—bitter, bitter is the tear that falls on her clay. You stand beside her grave, and think of the past: it seems an amber-covered pathway, where the sun shone upon beautiful flowers, or the stars hung glittering overhead. Fain would the soul linger there. No thorns are remembered above the sweet clay, save those your own hand may have unwillingly planted. Her noble, tender heart lies open to your inmost sight. You think of her as all gentleness, all beauty and purity. But she is dead. The dear head that has so often laid upon your bosom, now rests upon a pillow of clay. The hands that administered so untriflingly, are faded, white and cold, beneath the gloomy portals. The heart whose every beat measured an eternity of love, lies under your feet.—And there is no white arm over your shoulders now; no speaking face to look up in the eye of love; no trembling lips to murmur—"Oh, it is too sad!"

There is a strange hush in every room! No smile to greet you at nightfall—and the clock ticks, and ticks, and ticks! It was sweet music when she could hear it! Now it seems to knell only the hours thro' which you watched the shadows of death gathering upon the sweet face. But many a tale it telleth of joys past, sorrows shared, and beautiful words and deeds registered above. You feel that the grave cannot keep her. You know that she is often by your side; an angel presence. Cherish those emotions; they will make you happier. Let her holy presence be a charm to keep you from evil. In all new and pleasant connections give her a place in your heart. Never forget what she has been to you—that she has loved you. Be tender of her memory.

ARAB ODDITIES.—An Arab, entering a house removes his shoes but not his hat. He mounts his horse upon the right side, while his wife milks their cows upon their left side. With him the point of a pin is its head, whilst its head is made its heel. His head must be wrapped up warm, even in summer, while his feet may well enough go naked in winter. Every article of merchandise which is liquid he weighs, but measures wheat, barley, and a few other articles. He reads and writes from right to left, but figures are read from left to right. He eats almost nothing for breakfast, about as much for dinner, but after the work of the day is done, sits down to a hot meal swimming in oil; or better yet, boiled butter. His sons eat with him, but the females of the house wait till his lordship is done. He rides his donkey when travelling, his wife walking behind. He laughs at the idea of walking in the street with his wife, or of vacating his seat for a woman. He knows no use for chairs, tables, knives, or even spoons, unless they are wooden ones.—Bedsteads, bureaus, and fire-places may be put in the same category. If he be an artisan, he does his work sitting, perhaps using his toes to do what his hands are engaged upon. Drinks cold water like a sponge, but never bathes it, unless home be on the sea shore. Is rarely seen drunk—too seldom speaks the truth—is deficient in affection for his kindred—has little curiosity and no imitation—no wish to improve his mind—no desire to surround himself with the comforts of life.

LIFE AT A WATERING PLACE.—A correspondent of the Syracuse, (N. Y.) Republican, perpetrates the following in regard to those who are there "enjoying life." It is rather on the "glowing" order, but we are compelled to let off, in consideration of his favorable mention of New Orleans, and Natchez beauties:

"The hotels range about as usual; at some of them the waiters still remain an unmitigated nuisance, and feel themselves insulted if looked at (inquiringly) for less than a quarter. The United States is fashionable—"Congress Hall" quiet, and "Union Hall" gay, social and comfortable. Many distinguished guests are staying at this house, and the exertion of its experienced proprietors gives universal satisfaction. The tables are excellently supplied. The town boasts at present of a surplus of ladies, but I have not seen a dozen who can lay claim to beauty, and such a thing as a belle—a beauty, bright eyed, with a brighter wit—whose merry name is fascination—why there's no such women at Saratoga. The young bloods think this is 'dem'd dwool,' and blush away their sweetness in native diffidence, sighing for Madeira. Natchez and New Orleans, bear off the palm of beauty. New York is waiting for reinforcements from the rural districts; while Philadelphia is distanced in everything but age and ugliness. The town is not more than half full and all of those go about feeling for the cholera. There is no amusement but dancing, and the hop of the United States on Thursday night broke up after two sets. Too aristocratic to dance.

A cheerful temper, a kindly heart, and a courteous tongue, cannot be too carefully or sedulously cultivated.

POST.

Wednesday Morning, Nov. 15, 1854.

Rags! Rags! Rags!!!

Clean Linen and Cotton Rags wanted at this office. The highest price in CASH will be paid for any amount brought.

Notice.

All personal communications to this paper will be hereafter charged as advertisements, and must be paid for, before they can appear. This rule will be adhered to strictly.

Wanted, Immediately.—A young lad, of from 12 to 15 years of age, to learn the printing business. A boy of good moral character, of a sprightly intellect, who can come well recommended, can have a chance to obtain a good and lucrative trade.

—The entire circulation of all the banks in Ohio, on the 1st of August, was $8,163,687.

—In the town of Crockett, in Texas, there is not one marriageable female.

—The circulation of the Philadelphia Ledger is sixty thousand copies; no other daily in the world has so large a one.

—On last Tuesday week, the day on which elections were held in several of the States, was the anniversary of the battle of Tippecanoe.

—The excitement consequent upon the failures of the banks of Cincinnati, is reported to be rapidly subsiding.

—John S. Dye has left Cincinnati. The next number of his Bank Mirror, we understand from our exchanges, will be issued in New York.

—A grey eagle measuring seven feet five inches from point to point, was killed nine miles north of Elizabethtown, on the 7th inst., by Cornelius Dougherty.

—Seven thousand seven hundred and eighty-five hogs from Kentucky have been shipped at North Madison, per railroad, to feed in the back counties of Indiana, this fall.

—The Boston Post estimates that $25,000 was taken at the Boston Theatre during the late engagement of Miss Julia Dean, of four weeks.

—The Alton Telegraph says the first sale of hogs was made at Peoria a short time since. One thousand well-fatted, were sold for four dollars per 100, net.

—Mr. Abercrombie, member of Congress, recently killed a man in Florida. An examination of the case took place, and Mr. A. was cleared on the ground that the homicide was justifiable.

—The Canadian Parliament having by a large majority, passed a law against the sale of liquors, an effort will be made to pass a law to prevent the importation of intoxicating liquors into the Colony.

NEWSPAPER CHANGES.—The Paducah Pennant has been purchased by R. W. Perry, who has changed it from a Democratic to a Native American paper, entitled the "Weekly American," edited by Mr. Perry and J. D. McGowan, Esq., formerly of the Southern Post Boy.

The Kentucky Register at Elizabethtown has been transformed into the "Elizabethtown Intelligencer," to be published by Messrs. Smith & Yager; Mr. Elliott, one of the former proprietors retiring. It states that it is to be a party paper, instead of a neutral as heretofore, but does not state to what party it will adhere. It is rumored that it is to advocate Know Nothingism.

SALE OF A NEWSPAPER.—We understand that the largest newspaper sale ever effected in this country took place in Boston last week, when occurred the transfer of Gleason's Pictorial and the Flag of Our Union, together with the entire establishment, good will, material, etc., of said offices, from F. Gleason, Esq., to Matern M. Ballou, Esq. The sum paid was actually $200,000.—Exchange.

Our local money market continues quiet, notwithstanding the excitement in Cincinnati, which, it was feared by some, would produce a panic in Louisville.—Democrat of the 11th.

NUMBER ONE.—According to the newspapers, Mr. Hume, on the presentation of his pictures, said that the chief aim in his life had been to promote the greatest good of the greatest number. The reports omit to state that Lord John Russell here interrupted him with the question—
'What is the greatest number?'
And that Mr. Hume, with great promptitude, replied—
'Number one, to be sure.'

HAVING permanently located in Shelbyville, Ky., tender their professional services to the afflicted. They will give special attention to the treatment of

CHRONIC DISEASES.

The senior partner has been exclusively engaged in the practice of medicine for the last 25 years. In addition to a regular course of study, he read and practiced three years in partnership with the

Indian Doctor Richard Carter,

Formerly of Shelby county, Ky., from whom he obtained all those valuable RECIPES and formulas, for the preparation of his PECULIAR REMEDIES, which have proven so eminently successful in the treatment of Chronic Diseases.

In all cases of simple, uncomplicated diseases where a carefully written description is sent them, post-paid, they will promptly send medicines and directions by mail.

NEW Spring & Summer DRY GOODS.

REMOVAL.

THE Undersigned having removed to the stand formerly occupied by C. & H. Beley next door to L. A. Spalding & Co., takes this method of informing his old customers, friends, and the public generally, where to find him. He would also say, that he has just received, direct from the East, one of the finest and best selected stocks of

Fancy and Staple Dry Goods,

Ever before brought to this market. In his store may be found all of the different varieties of goods usually kept in a store.

E. P. MAHON.

NOTICE.

THE very great and pressing need of money, compels the Building Committee on the New Presbyterian Church, to urge delinquents to come forward immediately. Their Treasurer, D. W. Phillips is awaiting anxiously to receive and supply the daily multiplied calls; he cannot satisfy the justly hungered appetites of laborers with the "specious article," unless the subscribers come forward promptly. It is hoped this call will be sufficient.

DR. GEOHEGAN'S EXTRACT OF HYDROPIPER,

For Dyspepsia, Scrofula, and all impurities of the blood.

Prepared by one of the Faculty.

THIS vegetable remedy which is now spreading to all parts of the country, is prepared by a graduate of one of the first Medical Schools in the west; a physician of high standing in his profession, and as much opposed to empiricism or quackery as any one can be, as is shown by the fact that the recipe is published, and accompanies each bottle of the medicine; thus exonerating it from the charge of being a nostrum.

It is prescribed by Physicians, as will be seen by reference to the Circular and by the accompanying certificate.

Unlike Sarsaparilla the Hydropiper is quick in its action, the first bottle often producing wonderful results, as in the case of the negro girl of Mrs. Simmon's, of Louisville, who was relieved of Blindness in One Week!

In short, it has excited the wonder and admiration of all who have used it, and wherever known stands at the head of all remedies for the following diseases:

Dyspepsia, Scrofula, White Swelling, Mesenteric Diseases or Negro Consumption, Scurvy, Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Sore Throat, and all Catarrhs or Skins Diseases, all female irregularities and obstructions, Mercurial Diseases, Secondary Syphilis, General Debility, and all disorders arising from impure blood and bad Habit of System.

For Female Complaints

This remedy stands unrivalled. Its effects are wonderful. It is a slight stimulant and a powerful tonic and alterative.

As a beautifier of the complexion, in the cure of pimples and blotches, in producing a clear and beautiful skin, it is a much more safe and sure remedy than all the cosmetics and lotions in existence. Try it, and you will never regret it. Do not lose confidence if it should seem at first to increase the disease—the general effect of the medicine being to drive all impurities to the surface, and by that means out of the system.

HARDENBURG, Ky., Oct. 6, 1851.

Dr. A. E. Geohegan—Dear Sir: I have examined your recipe for Compound Fluid Extract of Hydropiper, for the cure of Scrofula in all its forms, and other chronic affections, viz Rheumatism, Female Weakness, &c. Having prescribed, and watched its effects in many cases of the above diseases, and having always found it efficient, I most cheerfully recommend it to the afflicted as the best alternative and tonic I have ever used; altogether superior to Sarsaparilla, and any of its compounds.

DR. GEOHEGAN'S EXTRACT OF HYDROPIPER,

For Dyspepsia, Scrofula, and all impurities of the blood.

Prepared by one of the Faculty.

THIS vegetable remedy which is now spreading to all parts of the country, is prepared by a graduate of one of the first Medical Schools in the west; a physician of high standing in his profession, and as much opposed to empiricism or quackery as any one can be, as is shown by the fact that the recipe is published, and accompanies each bottle of the medicine; thus exonerating it from the charge of being a nostrum.

It is prescribed by Physicians, as will be seen by reference to the Circular and by the accompanying certificate.

Unlike Sarsaparilla the Hydropiper is quick in its action, the first bottle often producing wonderful results, as in the case of the negro girl of Mrs. Simmon's, of Louisville, who was relieved of Blindness in One Week!

In short, it has excited the wonder and admiration of all who have used it, and wherever known stands at the head of all remedies for the following diseases:

Dyspepsia, Scrofula, White Swelling, Mesenteric Diseases or Negro Consumption, Scurvy, Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Sore Throat, and all Catarrhs or Skins Diseases, all female irregularities and obstructions, Mercurial Diseases, Secondary Syphilis, General Debility, and all disorders arising from impure blood and bad Habit of System.

For Female Complaints

This remedy stands unrivalled. Its effects are wonderful. It is a slight stimulant and a powerful tonic and alterative.

As a beautifier of the complexion, in the cure of pimples and blotches, in producing a clear and beautiful skin, it is a much more safe and sure remedy than all the cosmetics and lotions in existence. Try it, and you will never regret it. Do not lose confidence if it should seem at first to increase the disease—the general effect of the medicine being to drive all impurities to the surface, and by that means out of the system.

HARDENBURG, Ky., Oct. 6, 1851.

Dr. A. E. Geohegan—Dear Sir: I have examined your recipe for Compound Fluid Extract of Hydropiper, for the cure of Scrofula in all its forms, and other chronic affections, viz Rheumatism, Female Weakness, &c. Having prescribed, and watched its effects in many cases of the above diseases, and having always found it efficient, I most cheerfully recommend it to the afflicted as the best alternative and tonic I have ever used; altogether superior to Sarsaparilla, and any of its compounds.

The Rattling of the Beans.

I'm thinking of the time, Kate
When sitting by my side,
And picking beans I gazed on thee,
And felt a peacock's pride
In silence leaning over the pan,
And neither spoke a word,
But the rattling of the beans, Kate,
Was all the sound we heard.

The auburn curls hung down, Kate,
And kissed thy fairy cheek;
Thy azure eyes, half filled with tears,
Bespoke a spirit meek,
To be so charmed as I was then,
Had ne'er before occurred—
But the rattling of the beans, Kate,
Was all the sound we heard.

For LIBERIA.—The ship Euphrasia is to sail from Baltimore on the 1st of November for Liberia, under charter of the American Colonization Society. She will take emigrants from Indiana, Illinois; Kentucky and Virginia, from that society, and also those emigrating from Maryland to Cape Palmas, for the Maryland State Colonization Society—some two hundred. She is the largest vessel sent out for many years, being of some 8,000 bbls capacity.

'Mother this book tells about the 'angry waves of the ocean,' now what makes the ocean get angry?' Because they have been crossed so often, my son.'

'John,' said a schoolmaster to an idle boy, 'you will soon be a man, and will have to do business—what do you suppose you will do when you have to write letters, unless you will spell better?' 'Oh, sir,' replied John, 'I shall put easy words in them.'

'That horse of yours,' said a friend of ours to a farmer, 'is very handsome.' 'Yes,' was the drawing reply; 'but he is—as slow as cold molasses.'

VERY CORRECT.—'Please, Mister, give me a bundle of hay?'

'Yes, my son. Sixpenny or shilling bundle?'

'Shillin.'

'Is it for your father?'

'No, I guess 'tain't—that's for the boss. My father don't eat hay!'

NAME THE PAGE.—My lord, I appear before you in the character of an advocate from the city of London. My lord, the city of London herself appears before you as a suppliant for justice. My lord, it is written on the book of Nature.

'What book?' says Lord Ellenborough.

'The book of Nature.'

'Name the page,' says Lord Ellenborough, holding his pen uplifted, as if to note the folio down.

'The city of London' was shut up.

M. De Balzac was lying awake in bed when he saw a man enter his room cautiously and attempt to pick the lock of his writing desk. The rogue was not a little disconcerted at hearing a loud laugh from the occupant of the apartment, whom he supposed asleep. 'Why do you laugh?' asked the thief. 'I am laughing, my good fellow,' said M. De Balzac, 'to think what pains you are taking, and what a risk you run, in hope of finding money by night in a desk where the lawful owner can never find any by day. The thief evacuated Flanders' at once.

'How are you Count?' said a noted wag to a spruce-looking specimen of the genus snob. 'Sir!' exclaimed the indignant swell, 'who are you; and why call me Count?'

'Why, I saw you counting oysters in New York last week, and I supposed you were of royal blood,' said the wag. Snob vanished.

A friend relates the following good joke on Dr. Egan, of Chicago. The doctor is a great land speculator, as well as a most successful physician. The doctor prescribed some pills for a lady. She asked how they were to be taken. 'A quarter down,' said the doctor, 'and the balance in one or two years.'

One day Henderson the actor met Dr. Johnson in Bolt Court and being introduced to him, the conversation turned on dramatic subjects. Henderson asked the doctor's opinion of Mr. Reed's 'Dido' and of its author. 'Sir,' said Johnson, 'I never did the man any injury, yet he would read his tragedy to me.'

The editor of the New London Chronicle has conversed with a gentleman of 100 years old, named James Douglas. He was recently from New Haven, where he challenged another old boy of 102 years to wrestle with him, but he backed out.

On board one of the steamboats there was a very beautiful girl, whose comeliness and grace attracted much attention. When the bell rang for the passengers to pay their money, a stranger asked what it was for, and was told it was the 'bell' for the money. 'No,' said Mr. H., pointing to the girl, 'there is the belle' for the money.'

Did you ever think, when you saw a very little baby dressed up in its very long Sunday clothes, that it was like a sir-pence tied in the corner of a pocket handkerchief?

A would-be prophet, down south, said lately, in one of his sermons, that he 'was sent to redeem the world, and all things therein.' Upon hearing this, a native pulled out two five dollar bills on a broken bank, and requested him to fork over the specie for them.

A gentleman playing whist with an intimate friend, who seemed, as far as hands were concerned, to hold the Mohammedan doctrine of ablation in supreme contempt, said to him with a countenance more in sorrow than in anger, 'My good fellow, if dirt were trumps, what a hand you would have!'

Somebody takes a very true and impartial view of things, as follows:

If you would get rich don't deal in pass books. Credit is the tempter in a new shape. Buy dry goods on trust, and you will purchase a thousand articles that cash would never have dreamed of. A dollar in the hand looks larger than ten dollars seen through the perspective of a sixty day due bill. Cash is practical, while credit takes horribly to taste and romance. Let cash buy a dinner, and you will have a beef-steak flanked with onions. Send credit to market, and he will return with eight pair of woodcock and a peck of mushrooms. Credit believes in double-breasted pins, and champagne suppers. Cash is more easily satisfied. Give him three meals a day, and he don't care much if two of them are made up of roasted potatoes and a little dirty salt. Cash is a good adviser, while credit is the best fellow to be on visiting terms with. If you want double chins and contentment, do business with cash.

FATAL RECONTRITE.—A recontrite occurred in Owensboro on Wednesday, the 18th inst., between Timothy Burgess, tavern-keeper, of that place, and Daniel Murphy an old citizen of the town. It originated about an account owing to Burgess by Murphy. During the altercation Burgess drew a pistol and discharged it against the left breast of Murphy, who staggered and fell. The Ball lodged in the back, and Murphy has since died, leaving a large family to lament his loss. The assassin left the place instantly, and was heavily armed for resistance.

PROSPECTUS OF ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

NEAR LEBANON, MARION CO., KY.

This Literary Institution, founded in 1851, by the late Rev. WILLIAM BYRNES, and subsequently conducted for many years by the Jesuits, is now under the superintendence of the Right Rev. Bishop of Louisville, who will always take means to provide a suitable Faculty for carrying it on with a view to promote the greatest public good. Under the auspices of its previous conductors, the Institution has been instrumental in widely diffusing the blessings of a religious education throughout Kentucky and the adjoining States.—The steadiness of its patronage has been a constant evidence of the public approval. The beauty and salubrity of the situation, as well as the spaciousness and commodiousness of the College Buildings, are generally known. It will be the constant aim of the Faculty to adopt, so far as practicable, the plan which it was so well and so usefully conducted by its enlightened and benevolent Founder.

Scott's Weekly Paper.

The Publishers of this large and popular Family Journal offers for the coming year, (1854) a combination of Literary attractions heretofore unattempted by any of the Philadelphia Weeklies. Among the new features will be a new and brilliant series of Original Romances by George Lippard, entitled 'Legends of the Last Century.' All who have read Mr. Lippard's celebrated Legends of the American Revolution published for fifty consecutive weeks in the Saturday Courier, will find these pictures of French and American History endowed with all the power and brilliancy of his previous productions. The first of a series of Original Novellettes, called 'Morris Hartley,' or the Knights of the Mystic Valley, by Harrison W. Ainsworth, is about to be commenced. It will be handsomely illustrated with 12 fine engravings, and its startling incidents cannot fail to elicit undivided praise. Emmerson Bennet, the distinguished Novelist, the favorite of the West, and the author of some of the finest productions ever read, is also engaged to furnish a brilliant Novellette to follow the above. Mrs. Mary Andrews Denison, author of Home Pictures, Patience Worthington and her Grandmother, &c., will contribute a splendid Domestic Novellette, entitled the 'Old Ivy Grove,' and H. C. Watson an illustrated Story called the 'Two Edged Knife'—a graphic picture of Early Life in Old Kentucky. To these will be added Original Contributions and selections from Mrs. Caroline Lee Hentz, Clara Clairville, Lillie Liborne, Grace Greenwood, and other distinguished writers; the news of the day, graphic editorials, full reports of the provision, money, and stock markets, letters from travelers at home and abroad, &c., &c.

THE BRITISH PERIODICALS.

AND THE FARMER'S GUIDE.

LEONARD SCOTT & CO.,

No. 54 Gold street, New York.

CONTINUE to publish the four leading British Quarterly Reviews and Blackwood's Magazine; in addition to which they have recently commenced the publication of a valuable Agricultural work, called the

'FARMER'S GUIDE TO SCIENTIFIC AND PRACTICAL AGRICULTURE.'

By HENRY STEPHENS, F. R. S., of Edinburgh, author of the 'Book of the Farm,' &c., &c.; assisted by JOHN P. NORRIS, M. A., New Haven, Professor of Scientific Agriculture in Yale College, &c., &c.

This highly valuable work will comprise two large royal octavo volumes, containing over 1400 pages, with 18 or 20 splendid steel engravings, and more than 600 engravings on wood, in the highest style of the art, illustrating almost every implement of husbandry now in use by the best farmers, the best methods of plowing, planting, haying, harvesting, &c., &c., the various domestic animals in their highest perfection; in short the pictorial feature of the book is unique, and will render it of incalculable value to the student of Agriculture.

This work is being published in Semi-monthly Numbers, of 64 pages each, exclusively of the Steel engravings, and is sold at 25 cents each, or $5 for the entire work in numbers, of which there will be at least twenty-two.

The British Periodicals Re-published are as follows, viz:

The London Quarterly Review (Conservative),

The Edinburgh Review (Whig),

The North British Review (Free-Church),

The Westminster Review (Liberal), and Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory).

Although these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Blackwood, still under the masterly guidance of Christopher North, maintains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that magazine, and first appearing in its columns both in Great Britain and in the United States. Such works as 'The Caxtons' and 'My New Novel,' (both by Bulwer), 'My Peninsular Medal,' 'The Green Hand,' and other serials, of which numerous rival editions are issued by the leading publishers in this country, have to be reprinted by those publishers from the pages of Blackwood, AFTER IT HAS BEEN ISSUED BY MESSRS. SCOTT & CO., so that subscribers to the reprint of that Magazine may always rely on having the EARLIEST reading of these fascinating tales.

ELEVENTH YEAR OF THE LOUISVILLE WEEKLY COURIER.

Acknowledged by general consent to be the Largest, Best and Cheapest Newspaper in the West.

In issuing the Eleventh Prospectus of the Louisville Weekly Courier, we have great pleasure in announcing that Mr. Wm. D. Gallagher, Esq., has purchased an interest in the establishment, and he will hereafter be associated with us in its management. Mr. Gallagher is widely known as an able political and literary writer and a gentleman of cultivated taste, and being thoroughly Western in his education, habits and associations, and conversant with our Railroad and Manufacturing interests, we flatter ourselves that he will add largely to the value and interest of the Courier, and render it still more acceptable to its thousands of readers in every section of the great Mississippi Valley.

The Louisville Weekly Courier, Edited and Published by

W. D. GALLAGHER & W. N. HALDEMAN.

Is one of the largest, handsomest and best papers in the Union, and for the quantity and quality of matter it contains and the great care taken in its preparation, it is beyond all question

The Cheapest Paper in the West!

As a NEWSPAPER, its character is well established. Our readers of many years will bear witness that for enterprise, energy and reliability, it has borne the palm from all its contemporaries in Kentucky. It is almost invariably ahead in the publication of important news. It procures news of interest from all quarters, both by telegraph and private express, up to the very moment of publication, and entirely regardless of expense.

As a Commercial Paper, the Courier stands without a rival in Louisville. The gentleman who has had charge of the Commercial Department for the last six years, and whose entire time is devoted to it, has no superior, and his reports may always be regarded as accurate and reliable.

As a Literary Paper, we intend that it shall hereafter occupy much higher ground than heretofore. The Tales and Novellettes we publish will alone be worth ten times the price of the paper.

The Miscellaneous and Agricultural Departments will meet with all necessary attention. They will be both full and useful.

In Politics, the Courier will continue firmly Whig; but while advocating Whig measures and Whig principles, we do not intend to do so to the exclusion of our usual variety. Our readers may rest assured that they will not be surfeited with politics through our columns.

Early in January we will commence the publication of the Original Stories:

The Martyr of the Heart, by Miss MATTIE GRIFFITH; The Little Cripple and his Foster Mother, by ALICE STANLEY,

A lady of Kentucky, whose literary productions have been greatly admired.

By adopting the Cash System, and strictly adhering to it, we are enabled to still further reduce the price of our paper, and will hereafter furnish it, large as it is, at the following

Unprecedentedly low Rates.

Another Scientific Wonder.

GREAT CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA!

DR. J. S. HOUGHTON'S PEPSIN,

7 E TRUE DIGESTIVE FLUID,

OR GASTRIC JUICE!

Prepared from Rennet, or the Fourth Stomach of the Ox, after directions of Baron Liebig, the great Physiologist and Chemist, by J. S. HOUGHTON, M. D., Philadelphia, Pa.

"I DIGEST." Such is the true meaning of the word PEPsin. It is the chief element, or great Digesting Principle of the Gastric Juice—the Solvent of the Food, the Purifying, Preserving and Stimulating Agent of the Stomach and Intestines. It is extracted from the Digestive Stomach of the Ox, thus forming a true Digestive Fluid, precise like the natural Gastric Juice in its Chemical powers, and furnishing a complete and perfect substitute for it.

This is Nature's own Remedy for an unhealthy Stomach. No art of man can equal its curative powers. It contains no Alcohol, Bitters, Acids, or Nauseous Drugs. It is extremely agreeable to the taste, and may be taken by the most feeble patients who cannot eat a water cracker without acute distress. Beware of Drugged Imitations. Pepsin is not a Drug.

Half a teaspoonful of Pepsin infused in Water, will digest or dissolve five pounds of Roast Beef in about two hours, out of the stomach.

Scientific Evidence.

The Scientific Evidence upon which this Remedy is based is in the highest degree curious and remarkable.

Call on the Agent and get a Descriptive Circular, gratis, giving a large amount of scientific evidence, from Leibig's Animal Chemistry; Dr. Combe's Physiology of Digestion; Dr. Percival on Food and Diet; Dr. John W. Draper of New York University; Prof. Dunglison's Physiology; Prof. Silberman, of Yale College; Dr. Carpenter's Physiology; &c., together with reports of cures from all parts of the United States.

Pepsin in Fluid and Powder.

Dr. HOUGHTON'S PEPSIN is prepared in powder and in Fluid Form—and in prescription vials for the use of Physicians. The powder will be sent by mail free of Postage, for one dollar sent to Dr. Houghton, Philadelphia.

OBSERVE THIS!—Every bottle of the genuine Pepsin bears the written signature of J. S. HOUGHTON, M. D., sole proprietor, Philadelphia Pa. Copy-right and Trade mark secured.

Sold by all Druggists and dealers in Medicine. Price ONE DOLLAR per bottle.
